HIF and your privacy

HIF recognises the importance of keeping the personal information that you entrust to us private and confidential. This brochure has been compiled to outline how your personal information is handled and the steps taken by HIF to ensure your privacy.

What is Privacy?

From the 21st December 2001, Private sector organisations are required to comply with the National Privacy Principles (NPP's) set out in the Privacy Act 1988. The principles provide a regulatory framework for the collection, use, storage, security and disclosure of personal and sensitive information. Individuals have the right to know what information an organisation holds about them and to have information that is incorrect amended.

What information does HIF collect?

As a member of HIF certain personal information will be required to establish and maintain your policy. This will include information such as your name, date of birth, contact details, dependants, pre-existing ailments, details relating to membership and coverage from your previous health fund and possibly bank/credit card details (depending on your method of payment or claims rebate).

The fund also collects information from medical/ancillary service providers that relate to the ongoing management of your policy and to facilitate the payment of claims.

Why does HIF collect certain information?

The relationship of dependants to the policyholder is collected to verify that they meet the funds definition of a "dependant" and are eligible to be covered under that policy.

Transfer details relating to your previous health fund are collected to ensure that there is continuity of cover and to determine and inform you of your eligibility to benefits, or if waiting periods will apply.

Pre-existing ailment information is collected to enable HIF to inform you accurately of any waiting periods that may apply to your policy.

Credit Card or Bank account details are required if you wish to pay your premium by direct debit or if you wish to have your claims rebate paid directly into your account.

Your Medicare number is collected to enable you to collect the Federal Government 30% rebate. We also require this number for correspondence with the Health Insurance Commission (Medicare) and to process AccessGap claims. Your Medicare number is not used for any other purpose.

What is the information used for?

The information that you provide to HIF is used only for purposes that you would reasonably expect in providing you with a health insurance product. Your contact information may be used to notify you of new products or promotions being offered by the fund. If at any time you no longer wish to receive this information you can do so by returning the "opt out" request form that is attached to that information or by contacting our office on 1300 13 40 60. However, we do have an obligation to provide you with certain information in relation to your policy with the HIF.

What information does HIF disclose?

The information that HIF collects from you will be kept strictly confidential and secure at all times. Information will only be disclosed for purposes that you would reasonably expect us to, in order to provide the service for which the information was originally collected. An example of this would be providing verification to a Hospital of your membership if you were having surgery, and the corresponding data flows that would occur between HIF and that Hospital, medical providers and Medicare to settle your account. HIF will not disclose your personal information to third parties, other than when it is a requirement to enable HIF to perform its core business.

Disclosure of personal information may be deemed necessary in some exceptional circumstances such as when there are grounds to believe that the disclosure is necessary to prevent a threat to an individual's health and safety, or for law enforcement purposes.

As part of its business practice, HIF out-sources the production of benefits cheques, rebate statements, annual taxation statements, membership renewals, membership cards and large mailings to members. Where personal information of this nature is disclosed, the third parties will be contracted to HIF to ensure confidentiality.

Can I access my personal information?

Yes, you are entitled to access your personal information that HIF has collected since the 21st December 2001, or information that has been reactivated after this date that relates to the period prior to 21st December 2001.
